

CAREER TALKS SERIES

Dr. Tina Zimmermann

Principal Scientist/Lab Head (Boehringer Ingelheim)

"Changing Patients' Lives - A Possible Career in a Pharma Company"

The struggle is real - your PhD is close to be finished, you love science, but staying in academia might not offer what you wish for.

Here is the story of Dr. Tina Zimmermann, who after graduating actively pursued a career in the research department of two pharma companies, still focusing on her passion for science with the purpose of changing patients' lives. Her talk will give an overview of her career, her current job profile and insights on what motivates her to work in a pharmaceutical company.

Monday, 20 July 2020 at 17:00

The talk will take place online. Registered participants will receive the login information one day before the talk.

All are welcome to attend

Do you want to attend a mentoring session with Dr Zimmermann after her talk?
